COMMENTS: (strengths, areas for growth, next steps):

Ron Dayaram is a TC with great potential. Throughout his block, he met all expectations laid out by our department and myself. He worked hard to develop lessons and while not his primary subject matter, became self-taught in these areas to a level where such a shortcoming would not interfere with instructional clarity or educational goals of the class. Ron successfully experimented with a variety of pedagogical methods, and will certainly continue to explore differentiated instructional tactics. I have no doubt that if Ron continues to develop as he has demonstrated this past month at Thornhill, he will become an asset to any department and school that is fortunate enough to have him on staff.
